Isaac Newton

- Father of Calculus and dynamics
- Formulated Laws of gravity and laws of motion
- Discovered that white light is composed of the colours of the spectrum.
- He dedicated his whole life to know the Word of God (Bible) and to know the works of God (creation)

Gravitational constant

mass

$$F = G \frac{m_1 m_2}{r^2}$$

distance

The diagram illustrates Newton's Law of Universal Gravitation. It shows two masses, m_1 (Jupiter) and m_2 (Moon), separated by a distance r . The equation $F = G \frac{m_1 m_2}{r^2}$ is shown above, with arrows pointing from the labels 'force', 'Gravitational constant', 'mass', and 'distance' to the corresponding parts of the equation.

C.T Studd

“Only one life, it will soon be past,
only what’s done for Christ will last...
some like to live within the sound of the church or chapel bell – I’d like to run a rescue shop within the yard of hell”.
